SOLDIER BROTHER HERE ON VISIT

Ernest Woll of Salinas, a brother of Mrs. Arthur Rambo, has returned from France and is the guest of his sister here this week. Mr. Woll was a soldier of the 91st Division and carried ammunition to the famous Browning machine gunners whose marksmanship put the Germans to rout at St. Miehl, Meuse, the Argonne Ypres and Lys. The guns fired 120 shells every 13 seconds. WON HEARTS OF BIG AUDIENCES

Grammar School Children Score Big Hit In Splendid Entertainment.

The Grammar school entertainment packed the auditorium to over flowing Thursday and Friday evenings and one of the most creditable programs ever presented by the children was highly praised by every one who witnessed the splendid production.

Anita Camp in a Spanish dance was graceful and most attractive.

The little mammas and and their tea party won the hearts of everybody Not only did the tots sing well, enuciate splendidly and act with greatest intelligence but they showed training which if carried out in other school work, reflects the greatest credit on the instruction they are receiving. Miss Minnie Cook and Miss Florence Murphy trained the clever performers.

Vesta Prestwood recited "Little Joe" with considerable art.

"The Love Pirates of Hawaii" proved a tuneful and colorful musical offering. Zolita Clerici took the leading part with grace and zest and showed considerable talent as a vocalist.

Anita Camp was excellent in her comedy role of Miss Primer. Ellis Simmons was a dashing pirate and sang with much gusto. Donald Prestwood was a romantic looking and satisfactory Billy Woods. All the other characters were well taken, the Hawaiian girls made a beautiful stage picture and the "cooks who were crooks" proved real musical comedy assets.

Much credit is due the orchestra led by Ralph Busby and assisted by Mrs. J. Fochetti at the piano and Steve Duhring with his ukelali for the musical part of the score.

Mrs. Adler, Mrs. Rovai and others assisted in staging and costuming the piece.

The entertainment was in every respect a great credit to Principal Prestwood and his assistants.

A. W. Pooley, the piano tuner is coming to Sonoma valley again next week. Leave orders, Phone 832.

"My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty."

Our Flag Day

TODAY IS THE DAY on which we do honor to our flag, that glorious emblem which inspired the flower of the land to "carry on" all through the recent war, to endure all sacrifice, even that supreme sacrifice, the giving of life for those principles for which our flag stands. Deeper than ever is the red in its folds, dyed but yesterday in the crimson blood of American youth. Purer ever, is the white field, sanctified once more by mothers' tears and hallowed by the principles which led us to take up this war for humanity. Blue, expressive of loyalty, true blue, a deeper blue tone has our flag's fold taken on since our men and women awoke to their highest duty, and in every walk of civilian life, got behind our boys at the front to a man.

American life has been enriched by recent experience and the flag, typical of that life, flies triumphant today, far above technical arrangements for peace or the leaguing of nations. It has been pointed out by those unconverted to the theory that we can achieve a short cut to the millenium by artificial arrangement such as legislation, treaties indestructable, that if national conscience was all of the kind inherent in Uncle Sam that all nations would impulsively come to the rescue of other nations when wrongfully beset and that this sort of an alliance would be a safer and more binding covenant than any that could be devised or committed to writing. This is a handsome compliment to the high principles of the United States and perhaps others of the great powers do possess the same noble impulses which would actuate them to take up war if need be as did we. America, however, has had the proud opportunity to prove the fibre of its flag to the world.

Ii these reconstruction days, we should be doing more than expatiating on the glories and prestige of the United States since our flag went over seas and turned the tide of war. We should plan to make our flag supreme on land and sea, particularly to increase American shipping and build up American trade throughout the world. The war demonstrated our ability to turn out products we were formerly loathe to believe we could turn out and now we reflect that we were fed up on predjudice against our own goods, propaganda which kept our flag off the seas and limited our expansion in commercial channels. Had we not grasped the meaning of the hitherto obscure word, propaganda, and learned its dangerous workings during the war, America might have stumbled blindly on, on and over commercial rivals cluttering up our avenues of trade, their presence not only taken for granted but actually welcomed by good natured, prosperous, self satisfied Yanks.

Our opulence was all sufficient with times normal, no war to wage and no great ambitions to satisfy, but with the cost of war to be met and the world clamoring for aid of every kind from America, we began to see the light, give propaganda the kick, swift and accrate, and go to the front with the American flag, economically as well as literally. This is the prestige we must maintain and up-build until Old Glory garners the potential strength which will back it up wherever and whenever it is necessary in defense of the high principles which it typifies.

The financial side of patriotism and the conversion of loyalty into the dollar proof of it during five big Liberty Loan drives, shows the need of solid concern for our flag as well as sentimentality.

After The Saloon, What?

AFTER THE SALOON is put out of business, what is to happen to meet the deficit in city treasuries and fill the place the saloon has occupied in public life. Call them outlaw institutions, nefarious pit-falls or apply other approbrious epithets (epitaphs will be more appropriate shortly) we must all concede that an unsolved problem confronts us. The big cities where problems are problems, and throb with reality, are facing the most serious internal disruption, for though you close the saloon, you cannot kill the demand for a trysting place such as the saloon supplied, nor can you curtail public expenditure which saloon revenue has been meeting.

Neither one of these problems have been met, nor can they be for some time. This interim is going to be a dangerous one, particularly following, as it does, a war which has stripped the world, thrown it off its feet and stampeded a dangerous percentage into Bolshevism. If the idler and drifter whose safety valve was the saloon, now gather at the shrine of haranguing radicals to plot destruction, or the weak are lured to pitfalls of vice and sin provided by insidious propagandists, there will be far more wrecks, individual and social, than for which the licensed sale of whiskey was ever responsible.

It may be demonstrated that the saloon did not take care of any problem, justifying it as a necessary evil, but the elimination of it, particularly in big centers, must be ofconcern to everyone who stops to wonder how a certain element will spend its leisure, for the criminal and vicious, now being exploited by destructionists, when driven from their haunts will not go to churches or coffee clubs, but will be mobilized by foes of law and order. The I. W. W's creed is against liquor, for he claims capital exploits the drinking man. The new era is as welcome to the radical socialist as it is to the church people. In the scramble for the outpourings from saloons after July 1st, the I. W. W. and the conscientious reformer will both be contenders. As to professional reform, it will not bother its head over the ex-saloon man or his patrons, but will move on to greener fields such as tobacco, the fool proof Sabbath, and other excuses to gather and expend the funds which are so easily extracted from visionaries, idealists or conscience stricken contributors.

Your true reformer looks from one angle only and is joyous at the coming of "bone dry" days but it is the duty of those who see beyond and from many sides, to point out the complications which will ensue and the problems which will follow in the wake of so radical a change as that from wet to dry.

The burden of solving the problem will not fall on those instrumental in bringing it about. The reformer who has posed as his brother's keeper, will not long sustain him. The new order of things will have to be met and worked out by those least responsible for it.

IN AN ABLE series of articles in the Sacramento "Bee" editor McClatchey points out how Japan is honeycombing public opinion in the United States with propaganda favorable to the little brown man's exploitation of this country and how the Oriental is using the churches to further the program which is to be our undoing. It is a startling expose.

KEPT LOG OF WAR CRUISE

Log Kept by W. D. Foley U. S. N. During War Days Has Interesting Episodes.

Monday July 30th, 1917 at Buenos Aires, Argentina. Word was passed along that many Germans here are offering 50 to 1 that we will never again see the United States, but that does not bother us.

After getting fairly underway, we steamed to a point about 10 miles below the city and anchored there.

Aug. 1, 1917. Proceeded out to sea.

Aug. 8, 1917 at Rio Janerio, coaled ship and made other preparations for a long cruise at sea. All well

Aug. 10, 1917. In company with the South Dakota. Sighted several vessels and stopped them but none proved to be enemy ships so were allowed to proceed. At 6 p. m. parted company with South Dakota We continued on our course, doing patrol duty.

Aug. 14 - Aug. 22, off coast of Brazil. Full power run of 4 hours toward Bolivia, Brazil. Machinery worked smoothly at an average of 127.69 revolutions per minute, thus giving a speed of 21.7 knots per hr. which is considered splendid and was most gratifying to our captain, officers and crew. At 4 p. m. speed reduced to 10 knots and ship kept on course.

Aug. 23, 1917. Arrived at Bolivia Owing to lurking subs in this vicinity a heavy guard was thrown around the ship at night and all lights extinguished at dark.

Aug. 24, to Sept. 7, at Bolivia.

Sept. 8, 1917 at sea on patrol duty

Sept 14, 1917 at sea off coast of Brazil. We were given information of a strange vessel answering the description of a German raider reported in these waters. We put on reserve speed and headed N. E. by E expecting to reach the stranger within the next 12 hours all well and on the lookout for Mr. Raider.

Sept 18, 1917, stopped a sailing ship flying the British flag and bound to Montivedio, Uruguary. After investigating papers and inspecting officers and crew, she was allowed to proceed.

Sept 21, 1917 at 9. a. m. sighted a light which proved to be a steamer, made necessary preparations for attack and kept steamer in sight during the night.

Sept. 22nd. Shortly after daybreak we fired a shot across the bow of the steamer and brought her to a stop. Upon investigation she proved to be the steamer Uruguary bound to Montivedio from Liverpool and was allowed to proceed.

Oct. 15, 1917 at sea with squadron target practice and drill.

Oct. 19, to Nov. 14, at Montivedio

November 15, at sea weather wet and stormy. Sea running high and ship tumbling about. Many of the young men suffer from sea sickness. All others well and cheerful.

Nov. 18, 1917 at harbor of Rio de Janerio detached from squadron and ordered home with all possible haste. All well and extremely happy

Nov. 19, at 6 p. m. word was passed that our next stop would be Hampton Roads, Virginia which was received with lusty cheers by the entire ships company.

Chief Engineer Foley U. S. N. whose interesting log of his cruise during the war as appearing each week in this newspaper is to be mustered out the coming week and not only expects to draw a retired machinists pay but will also get a fine position at the Navy yard and plans to come from Vallejo to his Sonoma home for the week ends.

NEW PASTOR FOR ST FRANCIS CHURCH

Rev. J. Byrne of St. Agnes parish, San Francisco, has been appointed pastor of St. Francis church to fill the place of Rev. T. P. Moran whose continued illness at Mary's Help Hospital makes his return here impossible. Father Moran is a gentleman of fine attainments and filled the pulpit here several years. His successor is said to be a splendid speaker and has been very popular with his parishoners in the metropolis. A cordial welcome will be extended to him in Sonoma Valley.

The J. Revie family drove to Santa Rosa Tuesday in their Ford.

MRS. McKINNON HONORED ON 88TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. O. J. Mc Kinnon was tendered a delightful surprise party Monday in honor of her 88th birthday. More than thirty of her friends and many relatives were present to greet the gracious and remarkable old lady whose good health and cheery personality has made her one of Sonoma Valley's youngest old ladies.

Mrs. McKinnon was showered with gifts and beautiful flowers and expressed herself with deep appreciation at the expressions of regard and remembrance.

The party was an al fresco affair under the arbor of her daughter's home and delicious ice cream and other delectable refreshments were served during the afternoon.

Mrs. Middelmas, a daughter from Alameda, Miss Janet Munfrey, her grand daughter, and a niece, Miss Love, were among the out of town members of the family present on the joyous occossion.

WOMANS CLUB NOTES

The business meeting of the S. V. W. Club was called to order on Friday afternoon June 6th with a good attendance.

After the completion of routine business a suggestion was offered that an effort be made towards the ownership of a creditable American flag and a flag staff. This is a need which has been constantly felt since the club house was built.

With this purpose in view it was voted that our social meeting on June 20th should be "Flag Day" with the club, with an appropriate program and decorations. A silver offering will be taken and a delicious cake will be sold, per slice, towards the "Flag Fund."

Upon that occassion Mrs. M. Stein will preside as hostess, while the program is in charge of Mrs. E. DePlace a lady of much musical ability and experience, thus promising a treat.

In closing a committee was appointed to arrange a floral tribute and meeting was adjourned in loving memory of our late treasurer, Mrs. Alice Wagnon.

Club reporter.

Miss Amy Engler is to be the next president of the local parlor of Native Daughters of the Golden West.

PEAR PRICES ARE FIXED FOR THIS YEARS CROP

Directors of the California Pear Growers' Association last week established the price of $85 per ton, point of shipment, for No. 1 Bartlett pears for canning, and $50 a ton for No. 2 for canning.

It is estimated that at least 20,000 tons of Bartlett pears will be dried this year, thus utilizing about one-fifth of the crop of California. The demand for eastern shipment of pears is unusually large and buyers are offering $2.25 to $2.30 a box, f. o. b. After deducting the cost of boxes and packing, this will net the grower $87.50 a ton. Probably about 6,000 carloads will be shipped east this season as against 5,000 last year.

FORMER SAN LUIS TEACHER WAS HEROINE OF SCHOOL FIRE IN SAN FRANCISCO

Five hundred school children were saved from danger of a fatal panic by the cool action of Miss Margaret Burke, principal of the Hawthorne Primary School, Shotwell street between Twenty second and Twenty third, when a fire swept the roof and upper floor of the two story frame building causing damage estimated at $10,000.

The fire was discovered by Miss Burke shortly after 10 o'clock. Part of the classes were in the yard at recess, but many children were in the building at their studies, unconscious of the danger.

Miss Burke, detecting the odor of smoke, did not pause to investigate, but immediately sounded the fire gong The children, believing it was the signal for the usual fire drill, marched out of their classrooms in orderly ranks under direction of their teachers. They remained calm until they arrived in the yard and saw that the roof was ablaze. Several children broke ranks and tried to get back into the building to rescue their books and other possessions.

Miss Burke called policemen and barred the entrances. The children were ordered back to the lines and marched into the street, where they remained at attention while the firemen worked.

Upon the arrival of George E. Gallagher, president of the Board of Education, who hastened to school when informed of the fire, the children were dismissed and sent to their homes.

The damage by the fire and water rendered the building impossible for use until repairs are made.

Gallagher announced that the classes probably will be held in the open air in Garfield Plaza for the remainder of the school term, which ends June 27.

Miss Burke's handling of the situation was commended by Gallagher. The children at the school, which has eight classes, range from 5 to 6 years old to 14, and controlling them was difficult. —S. F. Call.

DISALLOWED CLAIM AND IS SUSTAINED

That Public Administrator Frank Phillips very properly does not allow any and all claims against the estates of deceased persons even when the claimant happens to be a namesake of his, was proven in the case of Mrs. Annie Phillips, a nurse whose claim for $161 against the Heugitt estate was disallowed first by the Public Administrator and by the court. The nurse brought suit to try and prove her claim a valid charge against the estate of the late orchardist of Agua Caliente. She was given every opportunity to come forward and produce her proofs that she had rendered the service claimed. The court decided against her Monday, sustaining Dr. Phillips in his disallowance of the amounts in controversy.
